Smoking is one of the gravest social problems of today. Cigarettes contain eighteen different poisons. Of these, the two most important are tar and nicotine. Even though people know about the bad effects of tobacco, they still use it because they are addicted to it. They think it gives them a temporary lift while causing great damage to their bodies. Young people take to smoking thinking that it adds to their personality. Many films show the hero smoking, many T V advertisements encourage the smoker. The time has come for the government to ban such propaganda. It is not enough if the statutory warning is included because this is printed in such small letters that it escapes the readers' or viewers' attention. The Government should ban smoking in trains and public places.

- 1) What are the two important poisons that cigarettes contain? (1)
- 2) Why do young people take to smoking? (1)
- 3) Find a word in the passage which is the antonym of 'Permanent'. (1)
